

Collis announces B2 Payment Solutions as distributor for the US and Canada

Leiden, the Netherlands; 2nd February, 2012: Collis is pleased to announce that B2 Payment Solutions Inc. (B2PS) has been granted exclusive distribution status for the Collis Payment Test Tools in the North America region.

B2PS has been a trusted partner and a Collis Value Added Reseller for the past five years. B2PS has now been granted exclusive distributor status for the Collis Payment Test Tools in the US and Canadian markets. Customers within these markets can purchase the Collis Payment Test Tools directly from B2PS and their growing network of resellers. This partnership will enable Collis to expand their services into the US market and the existing Canadian market while serving their customers better and more efficiently.

Bruce Murray, president of B2PS says: “We are pleased that Collis has continued our five year trusted relationship and has granted us exclusive distribution status for North America. We are sure that the combination of Collis’ knowledge as a worldwide recognized expert together with B2PS’s expertise, services and presence in North America will produce great results. The US is getting ready to migrate to EMV, and we will provide our customers with the best products and services to complete this transition smoothly - both from a technology and business point of view. This will only be the beginning; opportunities and growing demand is yet to come. We look forward to this new level of partnership.”

Berend van Geffen, CCO of Collis comments: “We are pleased to grant B2PS exclusive distribution status for the Collis Payment Test Tools and leverage their presence in North America. There are immense opportunities and potential in the payment market in this region. The local expertise and recognition of B2PS add real value for Collis when it comes to servicing the needs of North America. We have created a unique combination of local presence, in-depth knowledge of EMV of both Collis and B2PS and many trusted relationships with key players in the Payment Market. Collis looks forward to a successful partnership with B2PS in increasing Collis’ brand awareness in the North American region through our high quality test tools. Together, we can ensure Trust in Technology within North America.”
