

Cartes & IDentification 2007

Cartes & IDentification 2007 in Paris, in November, was a very successful event for Collis and Aspects. Parallel to our success in the market we were able to meet a large number of our customers during the event. To them, and for a large group of new customers, we showed the latest products and innovation from Collis and Aspects: among several new products the Contactless products were very popular.

Part of the team at Cartes '07

- The Contactless Personalisation Validation Tool,
- The NFC Personalisation Validation Tool,
- The qVSDC Test Suite,
- The Tracer & Analyser for Contactless Terminals with the use of our new SmartWaveBox (ISO14443).

Besides the innovation on the product side we encountered a large number of people looking for expertise and knowledge. Our consultants (payment, e-ID and mobile) were able to share experiences from the field where visitors could share their challenges with us and receive feedback and best practices on the spot. SEPA related topics were in particular demand as well as questions about transportation in connection with micro-payments. Collis provides expertise in both areas and could demonstrate the knowledge they have gained in various projects around the world.

We are looking forward to meeting you again, in Singapore, Dubai, Toronto, Sao Paulo, Moscow, Prague or any other place where we will exhibit at trade shows. We travel the world to meet our customers: please let us know if you would like to meet us at your location as well.

EMV Support Contracts — Ensuring Trust in your EMV Solutions

'Ensuring Trust in Technology' is the philosophy behind the solutions that we deliver to our customers. Because of the trust we provide, you as our customer can rest assured that your new technology forms a reliable foundation for your business and contains all functionality to support and achieve your business goals.

Collis is offering EMV post-certification support contracts that will allow us to give you ongoing trust once your EMV issuing and acquiring infrastructures have gone live. By monitoring specific state-of-health information and transaction related EMV data, you can rest assured that your cards and devices will continue to work as planned, despite bulletins and specifications updates that are issued by EMVCo on a regular basis.

TestGoal Training Course — Learn to Add More Value

The TestGoal training course teaches testing professionals and stakeholders how Result Driven Testing adds value to software development. The training hands over skills to become a Result Driven Tester. The training sessions will be given at Collis in Leiden, in the Netherlands, but also on locations of international software testing conferences such as Eurostar, StarWEST and StarEAST. Collis can also arrange customized TestGoal training. For more information, exact dates and information on customized programs see www.testgoal.nl or contact Henk van Dam, vice president Collis Testing Services.

Aspects Wins New Customers

Following the launch of the Aspects' updated Card Profiler and Aspects Tools 6.1 at Cartes in November, Aspects' product have won a varied and interesting mix of new customers.

An expanding group of network operators have chosen Aspects solutions for their balance of simplicity and power, including Pelephone in Israel, Orange's development and test centre in China and ERA in Poland. Aspects' enhancements to the terminal test and development tools have proved popular, and Aspects are now test tools suppliers to Panasonic and Sagem.

Interestingly, Aspects have recently sold development and test tools to Google. As well as providing the world's leading search engine, Google are a key member of the Open Handset Alliance™, a group of more than 30 technology and mobile companies who have developed Android™, an open and free mobile platform.

Collis America

Collis America was established earlier in 2007 with an office in Boston, and is now four employees strong. With the US base firmly in place, Collis is capable of serving its existing clients in the US and Canada on location, and to develop its footprint in prime target areas such as e-ID (e-Passports, PIV, TWIC, REAL ID), e-Ticketing, EMV, and contactless payment. In all segments Collis America anticipates strong demand for its automated testing tools, training and consulting services.
